Our Programs

Green Dot for High School recognizes the power of peer influence, leverages the most influential students, and offers actionable solutions within a teen's social realities. Teenagers are experiencing dating and sexual violence, stalking, and bullying at alarming rates in our high schools. This program incorporates into its training a teaching tool that includes group and individual activities, team competitions, group discussions, and game playing. Instructors learn about working with school systems and incorporating parents, teachers, coaches, and other important influential figures in the high school setting.

Youth Mental Health First Aid is training for adults 18 years or older. Mental Health First Aid is a course that teaches you how to identify, understand and respond to signs of mental illnesses and substance use disorders. The training gives you the skills you need to reach out and provide initial help and support to someone who may be developing a mental health or substance use problem or experiencing a crisis.

Too Good for Violence is a comprehensive family of evidence-based violence prevention interventions designed to mitigate the risk factors linked to problem behaviors and build protection within the child to resist problem behaviors.

Too Good develops and reinforces a comprehensive skills framework including setting reachable goals, making responsible decisions, identifying and managing emotions, and effective communication in addition to peer-pressure refusal, pro-social peer bonding, and peaceful conflict resolution skills. Too Good builds the basis for a safe, supportive, and respectful learning environment.
